TCU (11-2-0) - Being a purple Horned Frog is not an easy life. It's kind of like being the Rodney Dangerfield of team mascots... you get no respect. This season, it's hard not to respect the fact that TCU closed the 2006 campaign ranked second nationally in run defense and total defense while placing third in scoring defense. Those are impressive figures for even the most macho of mascots! Even more impressive is the fact that they finished ranked 21st and 22nd, respectively, in season-ending Top 25 polls by the USA Today and Associated Press. The Horned Frogs, who have appeared in the postseason Top 25 for the fifth time in the last seven years, are one of only five teams in the nation to have reached 11 victories three times in the last four years. TCU won its last eight games in 2006 for the fourth-best current winning streak in the nation. In the end, purple is back in fashion for the Fall sports season.
